Dungeons and dragons character sheet google docs

This is a custom character sheet I made for my D&D 5e group. We play online, so paper character sheets can be more of a hassle when we have the power of the internet at our fingertips. This character sheet has custom formulas built-in so that you enter in your character attributes once, and it auto calculates everything for you, including skill modifiers, saving throws, passive perception, and many more. Also includes formulas for calculating your character level, proficiency bonus, armor class, and others. Also includes a live updated HP field where the color changes based on how close to death your character is. Click on the button above to view the template character sheet on Google Sheets. If you would like to use it or test it out, simple go to File > Make a copy... to add a copy of the template to your Google Drive. Once it's copied, you can fill it in and edit it as you see fit if what I have doesn't quite fit the bill. Below is a snapshot example of a recent character of mine with a fully filled in first page. The cells with a light yellow background indicate that a formula was used to fill in that number. avrae Avrae is a powerful bot, but it can be pretty daunting to get everything set up! Here's three quick steps to getting a character sheet linked with Avrae, and ready to play in a game! The first step is to add Avrae to your server. Make sure you have the Manage Server permission, and head over to invite.avrae.io. After you add Avrae, you might want to change the prefix in case other bots use the same prefix. [prefix - Insert any prefix you want to use based on your server (ex. !, #, $, !, etc.) With the built in help command, you get information about other commands in the bot. Here is the syntax for using help: For example, !help attack will bring up the help dialog for the !attack command. Try it out for yourself! Help will give you examples of commands you can use and information about them. Once you have your stats, think of what character you want to play and make them a sheet on D&D Beyond, Dicecloud, or Google Sheets! Once you're done making your character, make sure it's publicly viewable (Avrae needs to be able to see your sheet), grab the sharing URL, and follow the steps below depending on what sheet system you chose to use. You should see your character's stats pop up in Discord! To add a character from D&D Beyond, use the following command: !import ... Note If you link your D&D Beyond and Discord accounts and your DM links your campaign to a channel, your character's rolls made on D&D Beyond or the Player App will appear in Discord! To add a character from Dicecloud, use the following command: !import ... Note Avrae can update your HP and consumables live on Dicecloud - share the sheet with edit permissions with avrae. To add a character from GSheet, use the following command: !import ... Note You will need to share your sheet with avrae-320@avrae-bot.iam.gserviceaccount.com. You're ready to roll now! You can use the !check command to roll skill checks, !save for saving throws, and !attack to attack with your weapons! For example: !check arcana - rolls an Intelligence (Arcana) check !save dexterity - rolls a Dexterity Save !attack longsword - rolls an attack with a longsword For more detailed documentation on how each command works, you can use !help to view a list of supported arguments, or come join us at the Avrae Development Discord! © Copyright 2019-2020, Andrew Zhu, D&D Beyond. Revision 7fa2ca22. Built with Sphinx using a theme provided by Read the Docs. Integrates the D&D Beyond Character Sheets with Roll20 and Foundry VTT.Beyond20 integrates the D&D Beyond Character Sheet seamlessly into Roll20, Foundry VTT, Astral Tabletop and Discord. It can also provide a dice roller for rolling all your skills and attacks directly from the D&D Beyond character sheets or monster stat blocks. A roll button will be automatically added to D&D Beyond's character sheet sidebars (abilities, skill checks, saving throws, weapon attacks, spells, class features, and more) that lets you either roll the dice directly into the Virtual TableTop chat, or display the spell card, feature or equipment item for others to see.
